Miss Williams' Portrait Given Local School; Reception Follows

Appomattox Elementary School was presented last Thursday evening, May 16, with a portrait of Miss Flora Belle Williams, and the last PTA meeting of the school year concluded with a reception to honor her and other teachers planning to retire at the end of this school year.

Burke Makes Presentation

School Superintendent, J. A. Burke who retired in July 1962, made the presentation speech and paid tribute to Miss Williams' career in Appomattox County. "Seldom," he said "do people actually do in life the work which they are best fitted for. Circumstances and expediency often force them into lines of work to which they are not as well suited as other professions or trades. Not so with Miss Williams. Early in life she decided to be a teacher, and she stuck to it. She never lost an opportunity to grow in her profession or to improve her knowledge of it." He paid tribute to her career as a "dedicated teacher" since her first position in Appomattox County as instructor in the seventh grade. In 1937 she became assistant principal in charge of the elementary school at the combined high school - elementary school. In 1955 she became principal of the Appomatox Elementary School, and has remained principal there ever since.

"Happiest Years"

"These last eight years have been the happiest in my life," said Miss Williams in her reply to Burke's remarks. She spoke of the pleasure of being principal of the new school and of the excellent teaching staff with which she has been associated.

To the assembled P-TA members and school officials, she said, "You patrons have been wonderful. One of the joys of my life has been working with former pupils." And in speaking of her many years as teacher and principal she said, "There's no fun like work."

Presidents of the four organizations which gave the portrait came forward for the presentation. They are Mrs. E. Carroll Smith, for the Appomattox Woman's Club, Mrs. Billy Chenault, Junior Woman's Club, Mrs. Howlette Martin, Appomattox Garden Club, and Mrs. Martin Webb Elementary School PTA.

Life Membership Given

A Life Membership to the PTA was presented to Miss Myrtle Smith, second grade teacher by the present superintendent, Earl Smith. This membership provides a $25.00 scholarship for some student planning to teach in Virginia.

Gifts were presented by the PTA to Miss Della Inge, third grade teacher, and Mrs. Owen Carson, sixth grade teacher, both of whom have announced that they will retire at the close of this school year.

Suzanne Guill, SCA president and a seventh grader, spoke to the PTA on the importance of leadership training through the SCA. She said, "Leadership does not mean 'giving orders'. It means bringing about cooperation." She stated that the SCA is a part of the PTA and that the two organizations can work together in school projects.
